This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

- 1) carbon
- 2) alumina
- 3) a mixture thereof

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

All claims encompass all species.

The following claim(s) are generic: all.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: Alumina is different from carbon in properties, and a mixture is different from each one individually.

Regardless of which specie is elected above, applicant is further advised that claims 1-8, 16 and 17 are drawn to a product and claims 9-15 are drawn to a process of making it. Applicant must elect one of these inventions.

If claims 9-15 are elected, then applicant is required to elect a single method by which the product is made (in other words, elect one of claims 10-15).

Art Unit: 1793

The species represent a burden of search and have differing properties. The product can be made by a number of processes, as demonstrated by claims 10-15. There is a considerable burden of search, as the claims encompass a variety of classes and subclasses.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Any inquiry concerning this communication should be directed to examiner Hendrickson at telephone number (571) 272-1351.
